

Project Wellesley - Worthy Down Barracks

The Worthy Down Barracks near Winchester is the headquarters and depot of the Adjutant General's Corps and from 2018 will host the Defence College of Logistics, Policing and Administration, which will provide training for key support roles for all three armed services.

Project Profile

The £250 million college will offer training facilities and living accommodation for up to 2,000 students and staff and will cover diverse areas such as catering, supply, transport and military human resources.

Pegler was tasked with providing contractors Skanska with a heat free installation solution for the domestic heating and cooling system. VSH XPress Copper was chosen because of its credentials as being a quality robust system that can provide assured coupling.
